Purpose

The IRF Code of Conduct sets the values, rules and principles that govern the conduct of every IRF employee, staff member (consultants, interns, volunteers, advisors, etc.), Member, Member Associate or Member of the organs of the IRF or to the partners IRF engages with outside the organisation. The purpose of this Code is to support a working environment of trust, transparency, and ethical behaviour.

Guiding our work, the Code of Conduct is reflected – to the extent possible – in every contract, agreement, MoU and any other relevant document – as appropriate – that the IRF engages in.

Human Rights

Article 1. Freedom of Expression

1.1. Everyone at the IRF may express himself/herself freely, so long as it does not affect the dignity of someone else, it does not tarnish or hurt the reputation or image of the IRF, or it does not affect the IRF's activities. Cautions must be taken when posting to social media.

Article 2. Freedom of Conscience and Belief

2.1. Everyone at the IRF has a right to express and share his/her religious or philosophical beliefs so long as it does not hurt the IRF's impartiality and neutrality.

2.2. Everyone at the IRF has a right to wear religious symbols provided they are not obviously shocking or provoking.

Article 3. Political Activities

3.1. Everyone has the right to engage himself/herself in political activities provided they do not create a situation of conflict of interest, affect the reputation or image of the IRF in any way or do not comply with the principles (as defined in this code of conduct), goals and purposes or the IRF.

Article 4. Human Rights

4.1. Everyone working with or for the IRF has the full enjoyment of all human rights guaranteed by local and international law. The IRF and all involved must operate to ensure proper conditions for the full enjoyment of fundamental human rights to all is possible and to act when adversity is present.

Article 5. Right to a Private Life

5.1. Everyone at IRF has a right to a private and family life.

5.2. Everyone at IRF has a right to preserve his/her honour and reputation.

Diversity, Inclusion and Non-Discrimination

Article 6. Harassment

6.1. Any form of physical, mental, psychological or sexual harassment, and all conduct related to it, is strictly forbidden.

6.2. If there is a suspicion or any type of harassment, has or is about to happen by anyone at any time, there is a duty to speak up and report it to the IRF Commission on Ethics, Harassment and Non-discrimination.

6.3. The Independent Commission on Harassment, set up by the Board of Directors, must ensure its integrity and independence, in order to examine the reports about harassment and take sanctions against it.

Article 7. Non-discrimination

7.1. Any form of discrimination based on any given characteristic is strictly forbidden. Characteristics include and are not limited to, race, religion, age, disability, gender, marital status, sexual orientation, union membership, or political affiliation.

7.2. Discrimination means different treatment based on a characteristic of an individual, which is unjustified by any objective reason.

7.3. Any form of discrimination or suspicion of it should be reported to the to the Commission on Ethics, Harassment and Non-discrimination.

Article 8. Inclusion and Diversity

8.1. The IRF is committed to an equitable, inclusive and diverse environment that promotes respect, dignity, humanity and belonging. We aim to create a space that addresses and removes physical, social or environmental barriers.

8.2. Inclusion means giving opportunities and chances to anyone regardless of any given characteristic. Diversity means hiring, talking or working with people from varied backgrounds.

8.3. All opinions are to be respected. The IRF is a collaboration-based organisation, welcoming a diversity of ideas, perspectives, opinions and experiences.

8.4. We share accountability and responsibility to ensure the highest level of diversity and inclusion in the workplace.

Article 9. Safe workplace

9.1. A safe and healthy workplace is guaranteed.

Article 10. Commission of ethics, Non-discrimination and Harassment

10.1. A Commission of Ethics must be established. It is composed of 3 elected and independent members. The Commission is appointed by the Board of Directors with the simple majority and following a recommendation of the Executive Committee.

10.2. The Commission receives any reports and complaints about harassment or discriminatory practices and resolves conflicts of interest.

10.3. The Commission has the power to render decisions that are binding and has the power to inflict sanctions.

Individual Responsibility

Article 11. Confidentiality

11.1. Everyone at the IRF must refrain from using any confidential information for any purpose other than to perform its duties and obligations as per what is defined in the IRF statutes, or contracts and other agreements concluded with the IRF.

Article 12. Responsibility

12.1. Everyone at the IRF has a general duty of responsibility in decision-making.

12.2. Everyone at the IRF has a duty of protecting the reputation and image of the IRF as an independent and impartial non-for-profit organisation.

Article 13. Respecting local uses and customs

13.1. Everyone has a duty to respect local uses and customs in the countries they are operating, provided that these customs and uses do not conflict with the respect of fundamental human rights.
